Rich,

I got your message (I'm in and out of meetings all day today). I've not had a chance to look at the power point, and not sure when I will. Again, I had little involvement in Dimock, and to truly evaluate the data would take a good bit of time that I just can't justify when I have so many active cases I am working on. Hopefully I will get a chance to look at it in the next couple weeks. If I have any comments, I will be sure to forward them on.

Thanks again,

Bill

Jennifer,

First let me again thank you for taking DEP's time to brief us on the Manning situation. To me yesterday's meeting served a much larger purpose though: that being to discuss the experience with gas drilling and fracking that DEP has gained in the past years, and both EPA's and DEP's experience at Dimock. I personally gained greater understanding on several technical issues yesterday and hope the exchange of information will continue despite the many challenges both our staff's face.

In the spirit of yesterday's meeting I am forwarding to you a summary I prepared of the Dimock data. I think it mimics some of the conclusions we discussed yesterday and I would be very interested in any comments, corrections, etc. DEP folks might offer.

I hope that yesterday will not be a one off event, and more cooperation and collaboration will follow in the future.

v/r
Rich
